*Nehemiah H. Russell was counted on the 1840 census in Fort Covington, New York. There we 2 other Russell families in Fort Covington in 1840. Nehemiah & his family left Fort Covington, made a stop near Syracuse, and finished their migration in Folletts, Clinton County, Iowa. Nehemiah died there in 1848. His wife Mary Ann Lampson/Lamson Russell died in Folletts in 1956. I'm listing the Russells on the off chance that you might have some information.

Richards, of White Creek; Christopher settled in White Creek; Gilbert in White Creek; John, the hatter, in White Creek.

Lyman Cross, a son of Elihu Cross, wrote the first total abstinence pledge in this section of country.

James, a son of Christopher, is now living on the pioneer homestead, and Quincy, a son of Gilbert, on his father's homestead.

John Allen moved, by means of a sloop, from New Bedford up the Hudson, and then walked from Lansingburg to White Creek.

Dr. William Richards, son of Colonel Richards, a soldier of the Revolution, residing in Waterbury, Conn., was educated for the medical profession at Duanesburg, Schenectady Co., N. Y. After finishing his studies he returned to Waterbury, and from that place came to White Creek village, about the year 1795, and began the practice of medicine, which he followed successfully for more than forty years. He married Sarah Allen, and their children are Miss Ann P., now living on the homestead, who has been engaged in teaching a large portion of her life; Dr. Joseph W., now living on the homestead, attended the academy, and graduated at Union College, studied medicine, which he has practiced in White Creek, Troy, and New York city for about fifty years; now retires from business to spend his remaining years in the home of his childhood. George, his brother, following farming, is still living in White Creek village; Benjamin lived and died in Canandaigua; Jane became Mrs. Bristol, and lived and died in White Creek; Ruth married Hon. T. C. Ripley, and lives in Saginaw, Mich.; Sarah married C. J. Sinton, and lived and died in Richmond, Va. Dr. William Richards held the office of supervisor for the old town of Cambridge in 1812–13, and the town of White Creek in 1816–23. He was also member of Assembly in 1820. Dr. Joseph W. Richards was member of Assembly in 1837.

Zebulon Allen, a brother of the pioneer John, became very noted for a vigorous old age. At one hundred he worked in his garden, raising tobacco and vegetables. At the celebration of peace, in 1815, he carried the flag in the procession, at the age of one hundred and three. He died at the age of one hundred and four, and Elder Waite, next below him in age, preached the funeral sermon. He lived with a daughter, Mrs. Dwinnells.

David Sprague came from Rhode Island about 1771, and settled on a farm where Daniel Gardner now lives, the latter a nephew, now eighty-four years old. Sprague in a few years removed to Argyle. He was an early magistrate.

Seth Chase was a member of the Society of Friends from Rhode Island; came to White Creek before the Revolution, and kept tavern at the forks of the road southwest of White Creek village.

Joseph Stewart came to White Creek very early and settled near Martindale Corners,—the Stewart Cemetery being named from that family. Of the children, David, Joseph, Enos, Reuben, Sylvanus; daughters,—Mrs. Dr. Barnum, Mrs. John Allen, Jr., Mrs. Asa Kellogg (Ann, the second wife of Mr. Kellogg), Mrs. Francis Lauderdale. Joseph was at one time county superintendent of the poor.

Asa Rice was captured by the Indians when only three years old, and remained with them until ten years of age. He was then redeemed, but was loth to leave the Indian life. He lived a long time, and finally died at White Creek village. His descendants still reside in town.

Paul Cornell came to White Creek village, March 7, 1783, and settled just above the new creamery. Of his children, Elizabeth, Mrs. Michael F. Palmer, St. Alban's, Vt.; Maria, Mrs. David Niles; Walter R., of Chicago; McD., physician, of White Creek, and innkeeper. The pioneer finished off in his house a convenient lodge-room for the Masons, of whom he was the Master for four years. His name appears in early public matters, and he was of extensive business, engaged in iron-works at Bennington, and was connected to the late Hon. Ezra Cornell, of Ithaca.

John Harroun came from Colerain, Mass., about 1790, and settled on the farm now occupied by Wallace. Of the children, Oliver Harroun lived and died on the homestead; Martha married Samuel Fowler, of White Creek. A grandson of John Harroun lives near Rochester, N. Y.

Thomas M. Cool was probably a non-commissioned officer in the army of 1756, and received two hundred acres of land. His homestead was back of Brayton Perry's, on a farm now owned by Austin.

John Wood and Isaac were brothers, Friends, from New Bedford, Mass. Isaac settled on the farm now owned by Stephen Barker. Mrs. Barker is a granddaughter.

John Wood settled a mile south of the village of White Creek. His son, Jethro Wood, of Moravia, Cayuga Co., N. Y., was the patentee of the iron mould-board plow.

Amos Hoag came from Dutchess county in 1781, and settled a little south of Pumpkin Hook, on the farm now owned by Stephen Hoag, a son, still living, ninety-three years of age. The removal from Dutchess county was made in the winter by sleighs. House and barn, built eighty-five years ago, still standing.

Jonathan Hart moved from New Bedford at an early day, as a tanner, currier, and shoemaker, establishing one of the first tanneries in town. The children all moved west. A grandson, Thomas Hart, lives in Battle Creek, Mich.

Aaron Van Cuyler, one of the original patentees of the Hoosick grant, settled on lot 10, the farm now owned by Dennis Brazel, about two miles southwest of White Creek village. Died at the age of one hundred and eight.

Rev. Wm. Waite, the pioneer Baptist preacher spoken of elsewhere, was from Rhode Island; came to this town about 1772, and settled very near the southeast corner, as he is stated by Benedict, the Baptist historian, to have been living within half a mile of the Bennington battle-ground.

In 1786 he had settled at what has been called Waite's Corners ever since. He owned a large tract of land,—gave the site for the church and burial-place. He died at the age of ninety-six, March 20, 1826. His wife also lived to the age of ninety-one, dying in 1822.

In 1777 he went to assist an older brother in Cambridge to remove his family to a place of safety, information having been received that a detachment of Burgoyne's army might be expected through the Cambridge valley. Having taken the family to Williamstown, the brothers hastened back, and reached Bennington in time to join in the closing scenes of the battle. Not long after he went into the service as a substitute for an older brother. He remained two years in the army, was stationed at the different forts on the Hudson, north of Albany, after which he went into the army as a volunteer, and was at Fort Stanwix and Albany. After the war he settled in White Creek, upon the farm now occupied by Uriah Pratt. He passed a long life in the midst of his people, dying at the age of ninety-one, Dec. 8, 1849. He was very highly esteemed. At his funeral psalms were read from the Bible he carried with him into camp, said to have been the only one in the company to which he belonged.

ORGANIZATION AND CIVIL HISTORY.

This town formed a part of old Cambridge from the earliest settlement down to the year 1815. The venerable parchment-covered book yet existing in the town clerk's office of Cambridge goes back to 1773; many items of interest, applying to what is now the town of White Creek, are recorded in that book, and will be found, to some extent, in the history of Cambridge and in the lists of town officers.

This town sought for a separate organization at an early day, as shown by an "occasional" meeting held in White Creek, at the house of Simeon Covell, Feb. 1, 1775, when it was resolved to petition the Assembly to be set off from Cambridge, and Simeon Covell was appointed a committee to wait on the Assembly with the petition. He was also directed to present another petition, asking permission for the people to keep bloodhounds.

This movement was a failure, and the people of White Creek for forty years more continued to be a part of Cambridge, and, so far as it appears from the records, without any further effort at separation until near the close of that long period. The reorganization of the territory of old Cambridge into three towns was made by act of the Legislature in 1815, and the following notes from the town records show the minutes of the first town-meeting in White Creek, and other interesting items in the years following.

At an annual town-meeting, holden at the house of Jaques Johnson, innkeeper, in White Creek, on the first Tuesday in April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixteen, the following resolutions were passed:

> "Resolved, That Paul Cornell be moderator of this meeting.
> "Resolved, That Ira Parmely be town clerk pro tem.
> "Resolved, To raise one hundred and fifty dollars for the support of the poor for the current year.
> "Resolved, That the justices of the peace, together with the overseers of the poor, be authorized to rent a house for the poor if they shall deem it expedient; the rent, however, shall not exceed fifty dollars a year.
> "Resolved, To elect three constables and three assessors.
> "Resolved, To elect four inspectors of common schools.
> "Resolved, That all the officers by law required to be elected by ballot, their names shall be on one ballot."

The following persons were duly elected to the offices set opposite their respective names, to wit: Wm. Richards, supervisor; Ira Parmely, town clerk; Paul Cornell, Erastus Fenton, Robert Wilcox (2d), assessors; Paul Cornell, Jonathan Dorr, Jr., George McKie, commissioners of common schools; John P. Putnam, John McViccar, Henry Rice, Alvin Cornell, inspectors of common schools; Duty Sayles, Hercules Rice, John Barber, commissioners of highways; Arthur Ackley, Solomon Warner, overseers of the poor; Ira Parmely, William Trull, Wm. Dwinnells, constables; William Trull, Ira Parmely, collectors; Elias Manchester, William Van Kirke, James McKie, Paul Cornell, Duty Sayles, Samuel Bowen, Hercules Rice, Austin Wells, Abner Chase, fence-viewers and appraisers.

> "Resolved, That the fence-viewers be entitled to one dollar per day for their services."

Hezekiah Smith, Joseph Smith, Austin Wells, Alvan Cornell, Samuel Bowen, Thomas G. Ashton, Slocum Barker, Paul Dennis, James Bogart, Joseph Luckes, Aaron Vail, Elijah C. Pearl, Humphrey Russell, Solomon Warner, Zachariah Fisher, Jonathan Fowler, Nathan Hunt, William Gillmore, Abner Shareman, James Post, Benjamin Jeslin, Thomas Barber, Benjamin Smith, Elijah Slocum, James Chivers, David Mosher, John Doane, Asa Rice, John Cooper, John Barker, Thomas Austin, Wm. Nicholson, Howland Smith, Samuel Rich, Abraham Briggs, Asa Bowen, and Robert Wilcox (2d) were elected overseers of highways.

> "Resolved, That neither sheep, hogs, horses, nor geese shall be permitted to run at large in the commons or the highways. The barnyards of Benjamin Smith, Ezekiel Adams, John Cooper, Jeremiah Stillwell, and Aaron Barnes be declared pounds, and the several men named pound-keepers, except Ezekiel Adams, in whose stead Daniel Wells was made the officer."

The town-meeting adjourned to meet next year, at the house of Garner Wilkinson, innkeeper.

In 1817 the amount for the poor was raised to five hundred dollars. The justices of the peace were appointed a committee to meet with similar committees from Cambridge and Jackson, to confer upon the propriety of erecting a poor-house jointly for the three towns. In the event of the failure of this plan, the authorities were still directed to rent a house for White Creek.

> 1820.—Resolved, That it be left discretionary with the poor-masters to cause William Stephens and wife to be transported to Canada, and to make such contract with any person to transport them on such terms as they shall think proper.
> Resolved, That a ten dollar bill belonging to the town of White Creek be deposited with Clark Rice, Jun., to keep one year and then to return it to the overseers of the poor, or to exchange it if possible at par, or at a discount not exceeding seven per cent.
> Resolved, That three dollars be allowed George Barber for schooling poor children during the past year.

1821.—The currency question came up again, and it was

> Resolved, That a ten dollar bill, now in the hands of Clark Rice, Jun., belonging to the town, on the Washington and Warren Bank, be left to the town clerk to be disposed of to the best advantage, and the avails to be paid to the overseers of the poor.
> 1823.—Resolved, That the law be put in force against pathmasters who may neglect their duty.
> 1826.—Resolved, That the school inspectors be allowed three dollars each if they perform their duties according to law.

JAMES J. OGDEN.

The Ogden family is deserving of conspicuous mention in a history of Clinton county for many reasons which will be apparent by a perusal of the following paragraphs, and one of the best known and most influential of those of the present generation bearing the name is James J. Ogden, of Maquoketa, Jackson county, Iowa, whose interests in Clinton county have long been extensive and who has been here practically all his life, where he spent his very active years in connection with agricultural pursuits, but is now retired. He was born in Clermont county, Ohio, May 1, 1828, of a sterling Buckeye ancestry, being the son of James S. and Mary (Riley) Ogden, the father born in Virginia in 1795, and the mother in Maryland on February 11, 1804. They moved to Ohio with their parents and were married there. After their marriage Mr. Ogden worked as teamster for a large distillery in Neville, Clermont county, Ohio. In 1844 the family came to Iowa, driving overland to Davenport and from there north to what is now Maquoketa, Jackson county. They remained here for a year or more. In 1848 they entered eighty acres of land in section 18, Bloomfield township, Clinton county. He built a two-room frame house and began the cultivation of the soil, and here the elder Ogden made his home until his death. He and his wife were members of the Methodist Episcopal church. His death occurred in 1854, having been preceded to the grave by his wife in 1852. They were the parents of twelve children, all of whom grew to manhood and womanhood but two, who died in infancy; they were: William V., born in 1818 and died when twenty-one years of age; Mrs. Elizabeth Goodenow, who reached the age of eighty years, dying on April 14, 1900; Thomas V., born January 15, 1821, died April 7, 1900; Mrs. Delily T. Parker, born November 4, 1823, resided in Maquoketa, Iowa, and died December 24, 1910; James J., of this review; Benjamin F., born February 10, 1830, lives on the old homestead in Bloomfield township, this county; he is a twin, the other child dying in infancy; Mrs. Elender M. James, born April 24, 1832, died in 1907; Mrs. Sarah Ann Nodle, born March

Edward Aiken, an earlier proprietor of the same farm, afterwards bought the Sir William Johnston's place in Johnstown, N. Y., and his descendants are still in possession of it.

Isaac Lacy, who lived at one time on this same farm, moved to South Chili, Monroe county, and became a State senator in 1835–38.

Simon Covell, the first supervisor of Cambridge, lived in the present town of White Creek, and was regarded as a friend of the English government during the Revolution.

David Preston lived a mile west of what is now Briggs' Corners, on the present land of Mr. Jermain.

Joseph Mosher came from New Bedford at an early date and settled south of White Creek village. Of his children, Allen, Abiel, Jonathan, George, Job, Paulina, Mary, Amy, and Margaret. Mary became Mrs. Thomas Hart.

Among the early lawyers were Judge Dyer Walworth and Siderio G. Carpenter.

There was an early store in what is known as Shaker Hollow, which is situated nearly in the centre of the town among the hills.

It is said to derive its name from the fact that William Ellis went from there at an early date, and joined the Shakers of New Lebanon. After a few years he returned to his old farm, married, lived, and died there, known as a Shaker; the place was called from him by the name it still bears.

Simeon Fowler came from Rhode Island in 1781, or perhaps earlier. He settled on a farm a short distance north of what is now Centre White Creek, the place now owned by a granddaughter, Miss Fowler. The children of Simeon were Abel, Isaac, George, Deborah. A son of Abel is Jonathan Fowler, now living at the age of eighty-seven; and William P. Fowler, postmaster, is a son of Jonathan. With the pioneer Simeon Fowler, there also came his brother Christopher.

Josiah Dewey was from Canterbury, Conn., and settled at Waite's Corners in 1781. He was an early magistrate before the Vermont line was settled. He remained but a few years, selling out to Hercules Rice. Of his children, Joseph remained in Connecticut; Huldah married Samuel Derning, who was from Connecticut; Mehetabel married Timothy Wells, who was killed at the raising of a barn,—the widow afterwards marrying Daniel Herrick; Mary, Mrs. Hercules Rice; Josiah, Jr., moved to Massachusetts; Abigail, Mrs. Clark Rice, of Jackson; Joel settled in White Creek; Eunice, Mrs. Seth Veitch, of Pawlet; Allen settled in Massachusetts; Elizabeth, Mrs. Elijah Porter, of Massachusetts.

Robert Wilcox had a trip-hammer at an early day.

Three brothers, John, Aaron, and William Perry, came from Dutchess county about the opening of the Revolutionary war; first bought a tract of four hundred acres of the Lake and Van Cuyler's patent, held in common. Afterwards it was divided, William taking what is now the James farm; John removed to Lansingburg; Aaron remained on a part of the farm and died there.

Of Aaron's children, Mary married Moses Bristol, Addison Co., Vt.; Lydia, Mr. Anthony Hart, of Kalamazoo, Mich.; Isaac died young; Elizabeth settled in White Creek; Lucinda married and settled at Post's Corners; Deborah—Mrs. Levi Bristol, of White Creek; Phebe—Mrs. Peleg Fisher, of Waltham, Vt.; Arvilla and Ruth were successive wives of James F. Telford, New York city; Patience died young; Angelina died young; Israel B., living on the homestead.

Of William's children, Delevan, of White Creek; Philena—Mrs. Jonathan Fowler, of Waite's Corners; Ovando settled on the homestead; Juliette—Mrs. David Fisher, of White Creek; Cornelia, not married.

Wm. I. Perry, a son of Elihu, grandson of Aaron, is now living on the homestead.

Hercules Rice came from Worcester, Mass., about 1785, and settled on a farm, but worked at blacksmithing. In the militia he held the rank of colonel. He bought the farm owned by Josiah Dewey, near Waite's Corners, now the property of his daughter, Miss Harriet Rice. On a stream running through the farm he built a dam and erected a saw-mill about 1790.

Of his children, Josiah settled in Erie county, N. Y.; Henry lived and died on the homestead; Persis—Mrs. John Russell—settled in Jackson; Mary—Mrs. John King—at Eagle Bridge; Harriet, unmarried, is still living; Laura went to Illinois; Hercules, Jr., to Michigan; and Walter lived and died on the homestead.

John Younglove, whose name appears in early provincial records, settled on the present farm of Brayton Perry, east of Waite's Corners, before the Revolution. He was wounded in his house by a shot from a Tory named Partridge, whose property was confiscated, and he returned from Canada to make the murderous attack. Younglove sold to Dr. Sanford Smith, and removed to Jackson. He is buried in the old White meeting-house burying-ground. He was for many years a judge of the court of sessions and common pleas for the counties of Albany and Washington.

Austin Wells, a son of Edmund Wells, the latter a pioneer of Cambridge, came with his father when fourteen years old; returned to Connecticut for a time, but was here in 1776.

Started after old cemetery full.

WHITE CREEK.

SITUATION AND NATURAL FEATURES.

THIS town is at the southeastern corner of the county. It is bounded on the north by Jackson, east by Vermont, south by Rensselaer county, and west by Cambridge. It comprises twenty-eight thousand three hundred acres, or about forty-four square miles. The surface of the south portion is gently rolling, and the central and north portions are occupied by the Taghanic mountains. The summits of these mountains are rocky and broken, and covered with forests, and their sides are bounded by steep declivities and perpendicular ledges. The surface is drained in a general southwesterly direction. The Owl Kill flowing into the town from the north, near Cambridge village, takes a southerly direction, uniting with the Hoosick, below Centre White Creek, on the southern border of the county. The principal tributary of the Owl Kill is North White creek. This is formed of several rivulets rising in the northeast part of the town. South of the White creek the Owl Kill receives five small creeks from the east and three from the west. In the southeast portion of the town is found the Little White creek, formed of several small streams rising north, near the centre of the eastern side. This flows directly to the Hoosick, uniting with it in Rensselaer county.

In the Taghanic range limestone is found, but has never been used to any extent. A small vein of lead was discovered on the Noxon farm, three-fourths of a mile east of Post's Corners. It was discovered by Samuel Chase digging a post-hole. He prosecuted the search at considerable expense, and abandoned it. The farm was bought by Charles Tripp, who sunk a shaft, but likewise gave up the undertaking. Bruitt & Kane also experimented with the mine, but found it unprofitable. The assay shows twenty-two per cent. of silver, but the vein is not easy to work.

PATENTS.

About one-third of the town is upon the Cambridge patent, mention of which is made in the general history. A portion of the Schermerhorn patent extends into this town from Jackson. In the southeast part of the town is included the Lake and Van Cuyler's patent. Between this and the Schermerhorn patent, occupying a large portion of the northeast, east, and centre of the town, is the Wilson patent. This is stated by Hon. G. W. Jermain, in the Cambridge centennial address, to be the same as the Embury patent. Other patents given in Hough's Gazetteer as included in the present town of White Creek, are those of Bain, Grant, and Campbell. Land was plenty in those days, and surveyors were careless. The boundary-lines of patents consequently conflict somewhat with each other on colonial maps drawn at various times before the Revolution.

EARLY SETTLEMENT.

The settlement of this town may be stated as having been made from 1761 to 1765. It is true that there is proof of still earlier occupation just south, in the valley of the Hoosick, and there may have been some bold adventurer who located within White Creek, in the Owl Kill valley, or in some secluded nook amid the ranges of the Taghanic hills to the east, but nothing of this kind seems to be authenticated. The Walloomsac patent was bought in 1739, but settlements are not known to have occurred until after the Cambridge patent was obtained, in 1761. Then an offer of one hundred acres to each of the first thirty families who should actually settle on the patent began to induce those seeking new homes to search out the Cambridge valley.

The following notices of individual families will indicate the progress of settlement, and the general remarks in the history of Cambridge will apply very largely to the early history of this town.

The town-meetings of Old Cambridge were held very frequently within the present town of White Creek, and very much of the early public business of Cambridge was carried on within this town.

Thomas and James Ashton, brothers, were from the north of Ireland. They came to America in 1772, and settled at what is now Ashgrove. Thomas' homestead was the present farm of Charles Hover. He left no children.

James Ashton settled on the present farm of David Arnold, and spent his life there. He was a prominent public man, holding various positions of trust, both civil and military. He received from the State a commission as major in the militia in 1786. His children were John Ashton, born in Ireland, July 8, 1763; Rebecca, who married George Barber; Margaret, who married Wm. Van Kirk.

The pioneer, Thomas, was a Methodist, and shared in the founding of the church. James was a Presbyterian, and his descendants were and are generally in that connection.

The children of John Ashton were James, Joseph, Thomas, William, John, Isaac, Benjamin, Sarah (Mrs. John Foster), Rebecca, and Betsey.

Mrs. Darby, a daughter of Isaac, is still living on her father's homestead.

John Allen, a Friend, moved from New Bedford just before the Revolution, and settled on the site of White Creek village, owning a large tract there. A readjustment of the patent lines after his purchase changed his line to the north about twenty rods. Of his children, Mary and David died young; Ruth became Mrs. Dr. Elihu Allen; Rhoda, Mrs. Calvin Murray; both these settling in Welles-

WASHINGTON COUNTY ARCHIVES

Dear Researcher:

The Washington County Archives is open Monday through Friday from 9:00 AM to 4:30 PM.

Most books have indexes and many documents are original. Some documents are folded and filed in Woodruff files, and as you can imagine, are very fragile. It is our intention, as our Records Management Program progresses, to microfilm and index them for preservation purposes. At this point, it is very time consuming to retrieve information.

Upon receipt of your check or money order, payable to the Washington County Clerk, in the amount of $10.00, which is non-refundable, we will be happy to conduct a search of our files regarding your request. The charge for copies is $1.00 per page. There may be some limitation and restrictions of the photocoping of some records due to their fragile condition. We would also ask that for future requests a stamped self-addressed envelope be included to facilitate an early response.

NOTE: Early naturalization records, in most cases, have only the name of the person and the date of the Declaration of Intent or Oath. New York State usually has only Vital records for 1847-48-49 and after 1881.

* * The more information you can send me on the families in your researching, the better chance I will have to identify information to help you. * *

Sincerely,

Carol A. Senecal

through augur holes. The furniture had to be a part of the equipment of log houses fourteen feet square and ten feet high with an upstairs that could be reached only by a crude ladder. Yet twenty-nine people lived there together that first winter in Iowa. They slept on the floor or on slabs that had holes bored through them so that ropes could be stretched across and blankets placed on them. The head of the family had plenty of work and with six men teamed all winter long hauling hardware for settlers. Indians dwelt peacefully and did not make any trouble until some avaricious white people got into authority. The settlement was struck by the Camanche tornado, June 3, 1860 and what was known as the first home, a log house, barns, sheds were swept away. A limb was torn from a tree and thrust through the door of the house in which eighteen had taken shelter in a room thirteen feet square. None was injured. Over at the Smith place the boys had been pitching horseshoes and got in out of the storm. The younger brother, who was ill in bed, was killed when the house fell. The Barber's hired man had been watching the storm coming and he and William Barber ran for the house. When they saw they could not make it they ran to some butternut trees and each grabbed a tree. When the hired man let loose after the storm had passed he had nothing on his body but the wristbands and collar of his shirt. His dash into the house did not create as much excitement as it would have under any other conditions.

Mr. Barber said "People who were at Camanche tell me that the river was blown dry and a water spout carried over into Illinois."

Life was not at all dull in those days for there were ball games and dances when one of the Harringtons could be persuaded to fiddle for the young folks.

Shaff Settlement

Before the year 1840 travelers were coming into Iowa in large numbers and among them was a young fellow named Heman B. Shaff. Practically all the men were young fellows in their teens or early twenties each expressing land hunger as the urge that drew them to the prairies. This youth's father had died when he was but five years of age and later when he told his mother of his intention to go west she said she and the rest of the family would come also. Their home was in Sodus, New York state, and they came as far as Illinois but when young Shaff learned that he could get land just across the river for $1.25 an acre instead of $5 in Illinois he said he would come to the land of the Ioways. A man told him just what to do. Said there was some handsome land just west of Camanche with wood and water, a creek running through the land and a spring near a level place for a house.

The young man took up a claim for land in section 2, Township 81, Range 5 in November 1837. Then he went back to Illinois to stay for the winter with the family. In 1838 he established his claim and built a log cabin. His mother died soon after that and he went to New York for his bride, Miss Mary Russell, a native of Vermont. They had five children, an infant deceased early, Lucy who married Garrett Vandevere, Mary A. who became the bride of John Wolfe, Emeline who married John Vandevere and John who wed Miss Jennie Dripps. The senior Shaff died in 1904 and John Shaff passed away twelve years later leaving his widow and three children, Mary, now Mrs. Robert Adams of Los Angeles, Calif., J.O. and Heman, both residing on the original acres.

Soon after the Shaff home was established land was given for a school named Sodus for the New York village. The first log cabin was built on what is now the left side of the road toward Folletts. Although the young man wanted to buy land in 1837 it was not in the market then so the next spring he and three other men whose names were Folletts, Wood and Ketchum, went to Dubuque to get land. They carried gold in their belts as the government would not take any other money. They stood in line in the land office and when they slept one stood guard for thieves were also in that place. Eventually they returned to the location. Near was a heap of quarried rock that had been carefully ranked and no one knew the name of the earlier homesteader. Part of that rock went into the John Shaff home. Later two homes were built and are now occupied by Shaff sons.

Camanche is Born

Just a year after Elijah Buell had built his cabin in Lyons he had as a guest Dr. George Peck who had emigrated to the Black Hawk country. From there the visitor rode his horse down the banks of the river until he came to a likely place, high above the stream, with a natural slope to the water. "Here" he said "I am going to build myself a home and begin a city" and named the spot Camanche. He drew up a map of town lots then went into Chicago where he sold them and others he gave away presenting the title to mechanics and carpenters who agreed to come to the territory to reside. One young fellow announced he was a shoemaker and received his lot. When the news leaked out that he was an attorney, Dr. Peck gave him a retainer fee and urged him to remain.

The original plat for the town was for twenty ranges of twenty blocks each, eight lots to the block. The first plat was made in 1836. In February of 1837 Dr. Peck's son came, purchased a lot from his father, staked out his holding, built a hewn log house with materials cut from the island opposite and roofed the building with shakes. He and his hired man kept open house for travelers, the first hotel in Camanche.

In the year 1845 August Brion, a French surveyor, made a replat of the city using a piece of wild grape vine in lieu of a chain. Engineers say that the wild grape vine is more taut than any other possible measuring rod, that it neither shrinks like a wooden ruler nor stretches a[illegible]e made of steel sometimes does. People who came along with ox teams remained to build homes. Business was good. Camanche soon had stores, a bank, schools. It was the site of the first court house in the county. Its levees were a busy place during the open season on the river. It had a large and prosperous distillery, mills and factories. There were churches and social life.

Then came the tornado of June 3, 1860 striking such a blow that the community did not recover until its availability and advantageous site were recognized by the Du Pont industries. This was the worst storm ever recorded in Iowa; 134 persons were killed. More would have lost their lives only that the people had not yet assembled in churches for evening worship. In Clinton there had been a heavy rain but not wind enough to frighten people and residents were in their dooryards when a man on horseback roused the town. "Camanche is destroyed by a tornado and half its people are buried in the ruins. Send down all your doctors and materials to care for the wounded."

In an instant people responded and cars on the railroad were placed in readiness to do, the steamboat Queen City was requisitioned for relief workers and people set out in carriages. As they traveled muddy roads under starry skies they were not able to realize they were going to a destroyed city. As they passed one home a man ran into the road asking help for three injured children that had been brought there.

A writer at that time gave the following story: "There were in the beginning two different tornadoes starting west of the Cedar river about twelve miles apart. They proceeded eastward in separate and well defined courses until they left the Wapsipinicon river when they united. This union took place about three miles south of DeWitt. The southern tornado ceased its advance, enlarged its dimensions until it extended from the earth to the heavens, a large black column. It remained stationary, apparently, for a minute. The lowering clouds rushed to swell its bulk to an enormous size. Then the northern tornado, which had been approaching from the northeast, became absorbed, the huge mass now swelling and bellying like an inflated balloon, rose from the earth with a terrific roar, then descended sweeping onward with unparalleled swiftness and power.

"The storm lasted but two or three minutes but in that time a town of 1200 inhabitants was completely destroyed. One of the most singular features is the absence of furniture from the wreckage. All that remains could be put in a room twelve feet square. The rest must have been blown into the river.

"South of DeWitt twelve cords of wood was deposited in a heap. No wood of this character can be found within several miles of where the wood is. "Before much could be done in the way of relief it was night. A vacant store down near the river held the dead laid out on counters and men were digging graves in the cemetery."

The real history of Iowa, and this means Clinton county also so far as it has to do with the establishment of counties, courts and civic groups, began with its attachment to the Territory of Michigan, June 28, 1834.

The first step in the formation of counties and townships in Iowa occurred on Sept. 26, 1834, when the counties of Dubuque and "Demoine" were established by legislature in the Territory of Michigan.

Two years later the present State of Iowa was included in the Territory of Wisconsin that had been created in a bill that was passed by Congress and was effective July 4, 1836. Gen. Henry Dodge was the first governor. Gen. Dodge was a personal friend of Col. Milo Smith who lived in Clinton in its earliest years. Col. Smith was prominent as a soldier in the days of the Civil War and also aided in forming a wagon train that went from Clinton in 1864 to the gold mines not far from Denver, Colo. F.S. Roberts of Clinton and the late Mark Burghardt of Fulton, later to be the father of Mrs. Frank D. Grant of Clinton, were among the eager young men who made up these early trains across the prairies. Mr. Burghardt made six such trips.

Gen. Dodge ordered that a census be taken in the new territory and it was shown that there were 10,531 persons in the counties of Dubuque and "Demoine." These were the only two counties.

During the second session of the legislature the county of Dubuque was divided and the county of Clinton was named as its southern part. This session convened Nov. 10, 1837 and adjourned Jan. 20, 1838, so the winter of 1837-38 is the birthdate of Clinton county. Iowa remained a territory from 1838 to 1846 and then became a state being admitted to the union on the 28th day of December. Ansell Briggs of Baldwin was the first governor of the state.

Iowa did not have so easy a time becoming a state as these words would indicate. There was a convention October 7, 1844 in Iowa City which prepared a constitution for the new state. Lyman Evans and Ralph Benedict of Clinton county were members of this convention. At an election held August 4, 1845, the people rejected the constitution that had been prepared. Another was written. Henry P. Haun of Clinton county was a member of the convention body that established boundary lines in 1846.

Now let us go back to the beginning of Clinton county. It was on the eleventh day of January, 1840, that the territorial legislature organized the county of Clinton with its county seat at Camanche. Camanche had poled more votes than any other settlement. The first commissioners were Elijah Buell, George Griswold and Robert G. Bourne. They held their first meeting Jan. 5, 1841 in the home of Samuel Doolittle who kept a pioneer hotel in Camanche. Camanche was not a county seat for long. On the 14th day of January, 1841,

The first city officials were as follows: Mayor, Dr. A. B. Ireland; Aldermen: O. A. Anthony, Isaac Hess, E. M. Ward, and A. N. Littig. S. Hyman was recorder, Samuel Doolittle was treasurer, Robert Miller was Marshall, and S. F. Dillon was assessor.

Oscar Anthony was the first postmaster in Camanche. 1842 There was a rural delivery of a twenty-five mile route, established in 1902.

The Masonic Lodge was chartered in June of 1855.

It was in 1859 when Camanche was the leading city in the county, that the first Clinton County fair was held. The fairgrounds was north of what was later the Mudgett place on the road leading to the Dunn farm. There were many agricultural and home exhibits.

The first regularly-educated physician was Dr. William Bassett who came to Camanche in 1841. Dr. J. P. Anthony settled in Camanche in 1850 and Dr. A. B. Ireland in 1852.

The history of Camanche Township is very closely related to that of the city of Camanche. It formerly included the larger part of Eden township, extending west to Brophy's Creek, that stream forming the western boundary line.

Heman B. Shaff came to this area in 1837 from Sodus, New York. The first thing settlers thought about was to get near water and wood. That accounts for the fact that the land adjoining the rivers and creeks was the first to be settled. His claim was recorded in December of 1837. Sodus School named for the New York village was established soon after the Shaff home was built.

W. D. Follett settled in the area in 1838 as did a Mr. Blakely.

Frank Ketchum also came in 1838 and took up a claim to land since known as the Campbell and Hardy farms.

Land in Iowa could be bought for $1.25 an acre instead of $5.00 in Illinois.

Other familiar names in the next few years were Russells, Rowe, Lanning, Cleveland, Shadle, Van Epps, Brophy, Ketchum, Hudson, and Dunn.

Dear Ed and Betty,

I pulled up your E-mail this morning and it gave me a good bit of information. I have always wondered how Heman B. Shaff met his wife Mary, it is pretty clear that in the late 1830's when the Russell's lived in Wiliams (Williamson?) NY that the two of them met and carried on something of a romance. Heman B. came to Iowa in the fall of 1837 and felt good enough about it to go back to NY in 1840 to get married and bring his bride to his home. Until I recieved your message this morning I never knew for sure that the Russells lived in that area. Chances are great that they moved a little to a lot before 1837.

A related story: In 1839 Heman B. heard of John Deere's new plow and went to Grand Detour, ILL. and bought one. It was one of ten that Deere produced that year. On his way back from NY with Mary he went through Grand Detour and bought a second plow. One of forty that Deere produced that year.

In regards to the age of Mary Russell, it certainly would appear that the birth date on the tombstone is wrong. It also may be in regards to your information that the date of Nehemiah is wrong as well. The 1840 figure would indicate a mistake, and the question in the 1830 census is which male is Nehemiah. He would be the 30-40 male if the 1840 census is right. The 40-50 male could easily be a hired hand, a relative, or someone they were putting up for a while. One possibility is that someplace along the line from the right date to the stone engraver The 9 was read as an 8 for both of them. Unless we find other information that is one theory to go with.

Thank you for getting me interested in this branch of the family. You should have recieved a letter from me by now.

Dear John:

We just received your e-mail. We found Nehemiah H. Russell on the 1840 census for NY. He was living in Williams, Wayne Co., NY. Here are the details: page 238 Nehemiah H. Russell, 1 male under 5; 1 male between 5-10; 1 male between 10-15; 1 male between 15-20; 1 male between 40-50; 1 female between 15-20; l female between 20-30; and 1 female between 40-50. Roxana was born 24 June 1840 (according to her obituary--near Syracuse, NY). I haven't noted the date of the census, but it must have been done before the 24 of June. Nehemiah was listed on page 238 & a Nathaniel Russell was listed on page 240.

I sent an e-mail to the Camanche Public Library, and I was thrilled to get a response from Marian Paasch. She said that she worked at the library. She is going to look for obituaries for Mary Shaff, and Thomas, Friend, and Amherst Russell. I also asked them to look for Nehemiah H. Russell and Mary Ann (Lamson) Russell. These deaths may have occurred too early to have an obituary in the paper, but we'll see.

In 1830, Nehemiah H. Russell was counted in the census for Fort Covington, Franklin Co., NY. Fort Covington is almost at the Canadian border. He was on page 53 with 2 males under 5; 1 male 10-15 l male 30-40; 1 male 40-50; 2 females 10-15; and 1 female 30-40. I am taking this data from transcribed notes. I will check them later. A Henry Russell and Daniel Russell were also listed on the same page. Humphrey Russell and William Russell were listed on page 54. I have often wondered if Nehemiah H. (does the H. stand for Humphrey) Russell, was the oldest son of Humphrey. The dates work out if Nehemiah was born in 1789. When we were in the library in SLC, I tried to make a connection between the Russells of White Creek, Washington Co., Ny, and Nehemiah H., but I wasn't able to do so at that time.

Fort Covington, NY, is such a small town that they don't have a library, but a wrote a generic note to the Russells that I found on the Internet. I said "I know this is a long shot, but". I am hoping to find a descendant of Humphrey. To date, we have had a response from 1 of 5 letters. His family settled in South Bombay, NY, not far from Fort Covington. He was probably not related.

If Marian can find the obituaries, they usually give the place of birth, so it may be possible to trace the movements of the family this way. It certainly doesn't hurt to try. I also asked Marian about an obituary for Mary Shaff. Of course, we will share anything we find.

Ed has several ancestral ties to Clinton Co. Four gr-gr-grandparents and three great grandparents are buried in the County.

Sincerely,

Ed & Betty

Friend Russell is buried in another cemetery, but I'll have to check our records further to find out which one.

Dear Ed and Betty,

Last night I was looking through my records and noticed that I had the Russells in Vermont for a time. It might be that is where you might find them in the 1840 census. I have been trying to figure out how their daughter Mary and her husband Heman Blakely Shaff met. It may have been that they met in Vermont where his mother's people were located for a while. Their name was Blakely, earlier spelled Blakesley. They were located in Windsor County, Weathersfield, VT. for a while. What I know for sure is that Heman B. Shaff journeyed back to New York to marry Mary Russell and bring her back to Iowa. That must have been quite a trip.

If you find anything there let me know.

Happy hunting.

Dear John:

Thank you for your letter dated April 18, 1999 and for the pictures. The stone for Nehemiah and Mary Russell does look newer than the 1850's; and if it was placed much later, it could easily explain the discrepancy in dates.

I checked for Wilma Russell in Wichita, Kansas; but no match was found. Maybe she is listed under a married name. I also checked for Milton Parkhurst as we felt the name might have carried on in the family. I found three Milton Parkhursts in the United States. One lived in AZ; one in NM, and one in WA State. When I have time, I will send them a generic letter.

When we looked at your family tree, we realized you needed the following information. We have listed below the vital record type of data that we received from Mary McKenrick.

Dear Ed and Betty,

I received your last letter yesterday and went down to the cemetery. I am enclosing 4 pictures that I took then. One stone is for Nehemiah Russell and his wife Mary, one stone is for Amherst Russell and his wife Ann, and the third is for T. A. Russell Died Feb. 16, 1899, aged 63 years. I assume this to be Thomas. The date has me somewhat puzzled because I agree that if the census that you have is correct the birth date on this stone probably is not. This stone looks new enough that it may have been placed much later and by that time the birth date may have been forgotten or transposed. Normally I would tend to believe the tombstone, but given what we know it could be erroneous.

The fourth picture shows the area where these stones are located. The left stone is T. A. Russell, The stone about three over is Nehemiah Russell, and Amhearst Russell's is on the right. This picture is taken facing West and is the North West portion of the cemetery. Heman Blakely Shaff and his wife Mary are also buried in this area.

Paul Shaff called me this afternoon as he had also received one of your letters. He thought Friend Russell was buried there too, but I have not found any grave. The reason he called is that when he was around ten years old he remembers a Milton Parkhurst coming on the Inner-Urban from Rock Island to visit Paul's father Heman D. Shaff. Paul remembers that they were some kind of cousins. (First or second?) Paul said that the man had a big beard so that it was difficult any more to guess his age but in 1929 he guessed he was 40-50 years old. Paul said that this man had a grocery store in Rock Island. There are six Parkhursts listed in the Illinois Quad Cities. There are three in the Iowa Quad Cities.

The Inner-Urban was an Electric train that ran between Davenport and Clinton in the early 1900's. It ran just below the farm and had a stop at Shaffton.

Paul also told me that a Wilma Russell lives in Wichita, Kansas and is an artist at a University there. He didn't know her married name if there is one. He said she occasionally visits Mary McKendrick.

I am enclosing the Pictures and a brief family tree as I now have it based on my information and your information. Let me know if you are looking for anything specific.

Sincerely,

John T. Shuff
